VASSALLO CITED FOR HEROIC SERVICE

State House, BOSTON — Sgt. Patrick J. Vassallo, USA, 11 Anthony St., received a citation from Secretary of State John F.X. Davoren here on May 20 for "his extraordinary and heroic service against the enemy and in defense of American freedom."

The Agawam veteran, recently returned from U.S. combat service in Southeast Asia, was one of 30 wounded GIs from nearby Army and Navy hospitals honored during the annual state govt. tribute to servicemen.

Following a band concert by the 18th Army Band, the veterans were driven to the State House in open convertibles and greeted on the stairs by Governor Sargent and Charles N. Collatos, commissioner of the Dept. of Veterans' Services.

Airline stewardesses served as hostesses during a coffee break while a Navy "combo" furnished music. Later, the men took part in House hearings and sessions and greeted Constitutional officers. A luncheon was served in the Senate reception room, made available through the courtesy of Senate President Maurice A. Donahue.

Just before the eventful day ended, the wounded servicemen received handsome gifts provided by generous Mass. business and industrial leaders. Presentations were made in the Edward J. Cronin Memorial Museum of the state archives.

Secretary Davoren said, "The citizens of Mass. are proud of these brave men and hope the sacrifices they have made will not be in vain."

LEONARD ST. RESIDENTS ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual Leonard Street Picnic will take place at St. John's Field on Sunday, June 7. Picnic will be held rain or shine, from 10 to 10. Little things can break your back you can sit on a mountain, But not on a back.

OUT OF SIGHT-- A motorcyclist 120 feet away can be totally obscured by a pencil held at arm's length, according to studies conducted by Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. The company indicates that in 70 per cent of automobile-motorcycle accidents the driver of the car did not see the cyclist in time to prevent a tragic accident.

MOTORCYCLES LACK VISIBILITY On Road

Spring comes, bringing with it a warm, shining sun, a rich green back to the grass and trees, pastel-tinted flowers and 2 million motorcycles.

Two million motorcycles?

Actually, this spring will bring well over 2 million motorcycles, and with them the hazard of more traffic and higher numbers of highway fatalities. The results of recent studies indicate the single greatest cause of death to young cyclists in the spring and summer of their lives is simply because someone does not see them.

A motorcycle study conducted by an insurance company, along with data from the company's claim files, clearly shows that in approximately 70% of accidents involving an automobile and motorcycle, the driver of the car did not see the cyclist in time to prevent the accident.

The manager of the company's loss prevention dept. explains why drivers have such difficulty seeing motorcycles. "To get a clear understanding, hold a pencil at arm's length," says Mr. Wingate. "That pencil will now completely obscure a cycle coming toward you at a distance of 120 feet. A cycle traveling 30 miles per hour will take 2.7 seconds to cover 120 feet. Thinking back on the pencil and how it will obscure the motorcycle, then every driver should appreciate the visibility problem presented by the metal supports running from the roof to the body of a car."

The most common type of automobile-motorcycle accident occurs when the 2 vehicles are traveling in opposite directions on the same road. The autoist turns left at an intersection or into a shopping center, moving across the lane of the cyclist. The driver of the car does not see the cyclist in time to react and the result is one more tragic highway statistic.

One possible solution to this problem is for cyclists to keep their headlights lit during the day as well as at night. In a study conducted by the Wisconsin Division of Motor Vehicles, 65% of the cyclists felt that use of their headlights made them more visible in city traffic and 85% felt the headlights helped in rural traffic. About 92% of the autoists involved said cycle headlights helped the visibility problem in city traffic, and 94% said it was a definite aid in rural traffic.

Six states (Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Oregon, Arkansas and Montana) have already enacted legislation requiring headlight usage by motorcycles during daylight hours, and a similar bill filed by the Registry of Motor Vehicles in pending in the Mass. state legislature.

The National Safety Council and other safety-minded companies and organizations have developed other suggestions, such as the use of fluorescent protective gear for daytime wear and reflectorized clothing and accessories for nighttime use.

Highway safety with regard to the auto-cycle problem, as with all motor vehicle situations, is a 2-way street. It requires an equal degree of safety awareness and decision driving on the part of the autoist as well as the cyclist.

For his own sake, the auto driver must respect a cycle as he would any other motor vehicle — by allowing proper following distance and not trying to pass the cyclist on a single lane road.

On the other hand, there are a good number of precautions a cyclist can take to protect himself. Most importantly, he can make himself visible at all times. He can also aid his chance of survival by handling his vehicle much like an automobile in traffic — by holding his own lane, rather than weaving in and out. Special caution at intersections and other places where vehicles may cut across in front of him could also save his life and that of any passengers.

In the early spring, cyclists have to be aware of a number of natural hazards such as potholes, wet tracks and loose gravel. One of the most important considerations about a motorcycle is that it needs an operator making the right decisions to keep it upright at all times.

There is no question that cycling has caught on in the U.S., both as a means of inexpensive transportation and as a form of recreation and sport. While auto registrations have increased 34% since 1961, cycle registrations have soared 257%.

Today cycles represent approximately 2.1% of all motor vehicles registered. They account for only 1% of all traffic accidents. However, due to the lack of protection for drivers and passengers, they represent 2.8% of all highway fatalities. Cycle accidents number among the worst, with many young people sustaining permanent injury such as loss of a limb.

Largely as a result of increased exposure, many states have shown greater concern about safety legislation for cycle operators. In recent times, deaths to cyclists are down 4%, due mostly to legislation regarding the use of helmets.

No one is yet certain how far legislation will have to go to protect the motoring public. What is certain is that as the weather continues to improve, the number of cycles on the road will steadily increase. To prevent tragic accidents involving cycles, drivers of autos and cycles must learn better how to share the road safely.

"HE'S TALKING ABOUT DADDY."

THIS WEEK'S BEST BUYS FROM MASSACHUSETTS FARMS

The weather has advanced the growing season, says the Mass. Dept. of Agr., and crops are now 2 days ahead of the norm. Most of the activity on nearby farms is devoted to planting and seeding, with about 18% of total acreage already planted. Those crops that have emerged from the soil are doing very well, and soon the harvesting of early summer crops will fill produce counters with native chicory, escarole, Boston, Maine and salad bowl lettuce, and summer and zucchini squash.

Best buys this week are asparagus, scallions, spinach, greenhouse tomatoes and cucumbers.

Take advantage of the native asparagus so plentiful right now, because the growing season is quite short. It is harvested only in spring and early summer. When the hot weather sets in, the farmer stops cutting, to give the asparagus beds a rest so they will resume production next spring. The roots are productive for 20 to 25 years.

The Mass. crop is not large in comparison with other states, with local farms producing some 50,000 crates, valued at $ 1/2 a million. Most of it is part-time farming; of about 1,000 acres of asparagus, no single grower has more than 25 acres, with most plots averaging 5 to 10 acres.

Ninety • of Bay State asparagus — they still call it "grass" on the farm — is grown in the Pioneer Valley. Harvesting begins at sun-up, and it is most often a family affair. Since it must be cut before the heat of the day, the children work alongside their parents every morning before school starts. It is a traditional way of life on Mass. farms, and the youngsters appear to take the work for granted.

THAYER URGES CONGRESS TO VOTE AGAINST PROPOSAL

BOSTON — The 40,000-member Mass. State Grange has joined highway user organizations throughout the Commonwealth in protest against a proposal pending in the Legislature to amend the constitution so as to permit massive diversion of revenues from the state highway fund to the MBTA and other transportation facilities.

Grange Master C. Wesley Thayer of Feeding Hills, in a letter to all state senators and representatives, urged them to vote against the proposal when it comes up again at another joint Constitutional Convention expected to be called later in the session. He pointed out the Grange was one of the original supporters of the Good Roads amendment (article #78 of the constitution) for years prior to its ratification in 1948. And he warned that because of continuing highway needs, any sharing of highway user revenues with another form of transportation would "invite a colossal breakdown in both mass transit and highway facilities."

Thayer noted that because of wholesale diversion of highway funds to Mass. during the years prior to adoption of the amendment, "the highway system was in chaotic condition, and it is frightening to think what it would be like today had it not been for this amendment. Surely," he declared, "we must have learned a better lesson from all this ... and we are not going to walk into this kind of mess with our eyes wide open."

Thayer's letter asserted that highway needs of Mass., over the next 20 years, would amount to "not just millions, but billions of dollars."

He said that every dollar going into the state highway fund will be desperately needed for highways and highways only.

"If the ills of mass transportation are going to be cured through financial assistance from the state," Thayer said in conclusion, "some way must be found other than by tapping the highway fund for subsidy and precipitating an even worse crisis."

ALA SCORES AMENDMENT ON HIGHWAY FUNDS

BOSTON — The Automobile Legal Association charged today that state handouts to all transportation facilities, public and private, could result from the proposed amendment to Article 78 of the State Constitution which abolishes the highway fund.

Philip C. Wallwork, ALA public relations director, said that under the wording of the amendment sightseeing boats, taxis, airlines, bus companies, railroads, along with the MBTA in Boston, would be eligible for money from the highway fund.

The amendment, approved recently by the legislature, must be voted on a 2nd time and be put on the ballot for a vote by the people before becoming law.

"We wonder," Wallwork said, "if our legislators who voted for this amendment in the recent joint Constitutional Convention realize that not only does it include the use of highway money for all passenger-carrying lines but also the upkeep of all facilities and properties of such companies.

"If state help is needed by transportation companies, the motorist shouldn't be expected to foot the bill by himself. Once the highway fund is opened up for grabs we will have seen the last of the fine highway system in Mass.

"We hope all car owners in the state write or call their representatives at the State House and demand that the highway fund be kept as it is, protected by the constitution for highway use," Wallwork said.

These young Americans are being joined by hundreds of thousands of other teenagers who will be walking ten million miles this month to raise funds for self-help projects to alleviate hunger and malnutrition both here and abroad. These walks, the major activity of National Freedom From Hunger Month, are sponsored by the American Freedom From Hunger Foundation, which works in cooperation with the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, as well as with self-help programs in the United States.

Last year alone, American youth raised close to a million dollars to fight hunger. This year's goal is $3,000,000. Most walkers are concerned high school students who, with the help of the Foundation's Washington headquarters, organize and direct their area's "walk" — typically a 30-mile route. They obtain pledges from parents, neighbors and other public spirited citizens for each mile walked. Some walkers have raised as much as $500.

The Citizens' Crusade for Clean Water, which last year helped win an appropriation of $800 million for waste treatment plants, is back at work again this year.

The Crusade is working for full funding of $1.25 billion authorized for fiscal year 1971 (but not yet appropriated) under the Clean Water Restoration Act of 1966.

Rather than ask for this appropriation, the Administration has introduced a new bill which would provide $4 billion over 4 years in an advance-commitment program. However, as of May 1, the House Committee on Public Works had not even scheduled hearings on the new water pollution legislation.

The National Wildlife Federation's "Conservation News" comments, "The Nixon 4-year, $4 billion proposal faces an uncertain future in Congress. The Crusade feels it is unlikely that Congress will agree to an extended funding bill during an election year. Therefore, to assure passage of the necessary funds by July 1 to prevent a standstill at the federal end of the waste treatment program, the Crusade is working for passage of the full $1.25 billion appropriation."

Louis S. Clapper, conservation director for the NWF, is coordinating the Crusade this year. Clapper said, "Some members of our coalition see merit in proposals for 4- or 5-year advance federal commitments to states and municipalities for waste treatment plant construction funds. However, until such a program is approved, we feel we must continue the ongoing program under provisions of the only authorization currently effective. There is no question that the full $1.25 billion can be used by the municipalities to good advantage."

Well, What Do You Know? fun, games and knowledge

by MARTHA GLAUBER SHAPP, Editor The New Book of Knowledge

What do you know about knights?

Knights were the highest class of fighting men in Europe in the Middle Ages. The knights, who fought on horseback, were the aristocrats of the battlefield. They were the great heroes of the time, both in story and in fact.

Noble birth was important for knighthood, but a knight also had to master the art of war and the code of chivalry. His training for this began early. At the age of 7 a boy was sent away from home to the household of another knight. There he became a page, learning knightly manners and behavior. He also learned to hunt and duel. At 14, the page became a squire.

(For a free booklet, "The Magic Carpet," illustrated in color from The New Book of Knowledge, send name and address to Martha Glauber Shapp, Box 47, Putnam Valley, New York 10579.)

It was his job to look after the knight's arms and horses. He also continued to serve the lords and ladies of the household. When a squire reached the age of 20, he might be knighted. He knelt before his lord, who pronounced him a knight and then gave him a stout blow with the flat side of his sword. Perhaps the blow was a sign that the new knight could take the blows of battle.

Do you know what bismuth is?

Bismuth is a pink-white metal, probably known to alchemists in the Middle Ages. Mixed with other elements, it forms alloys that melt at very low temperatures. Because of this, these alloys are used in fire sprinkler systems. In case of fire, the bismuth alloys melt, releasing the water and dousing the fire.

Do you know where our word "election" comes from?

Our word "election" comes from a Latin root that means "to choose." An election is the method of filling an office or position by a vote, particularly by the electorate. (An electorate is the group of persons who are entitled to vote in an election.)

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS HAMPDEN SS

PROBATE COURT
To the Honorable the Judges of the Probate Court in and for the County of Hampden:

RESPECTFULLY represents Stuart G. Waite of Springfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, Petitioner, that he is the duly appointed Executor of the Will of Lillie M. Schwartz, which Will is dated October 2, 1956, and is on file in said Court, That John M. Schwartz of St. Petersburg, Pinellas County, Florida, Marion Ferranti, Springfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts, and Esther L. Reynolds of Agawam, Hampden County, Massachusetts, Respondents, are the sole legatees and devisees under the Will of said Lillie M. Schwartz. Said Stuart G. Waite further represents that:

1. The First, Second, Third and Fourth paragraphs of said Will are as follows:

FIRST
I give, devise and bequeath to my son John M. Schwartz, and to my daughter, Marion Ferranti, each approximately one acre of land out of the property that I now own on River Road, Agawam, Hampden County, Massachusetts, said location to be determined by the above John M. Schwartz and Marion Ferranti and said frontage to be approximately the same as the parcel of land formerly owned by my daughter, Esther L. Reynolds. This land is devised to them in fee simple.

SECOND
All the rest, residue and remainder of my property, both real and personal, of every kind and description, and wherever the same may be situated, I give, devise and bequeath to my three children, John M. Schwartz, Esther L. Reynolds, and Marion Ferranti, share and share alike. If at the time of my death any of my children should be deceased, I direct that the deceased child's share shall go directly to his children then living.

THIRD
I nominate and appoint Stuart G. Waite to be the executor of this my will and I request that he may be exempt from giving any sureties on his official bond as such executor.

FOURTH
I hereby authorize and empower my said executor to sell and dispose of any and all of my real estate, either at public or private sale, in his discretion, and to execute, acknowledge and deliver proper deeds conveying the same to the purchasers thereof.

2. Said Petitioner has converted all of the personal property into cash, has paid all bills of which he has any knowledge, has filed inheritance tax returns with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and Estate Tax Returns with the Internal Revenue Service, and has distributed all of the personal estate equally to said above-mentioned legatees and devisees, except a small amount which he has reserved for the possible payment of any balance on the inheritance taxes.

3. Said Petitioner has attempted to discover from the Respondents John M. Schwartz and Marion Ferranti how he should carry out the first paragraph of said Will. The Respondent Marion Ferranti has informed the Petitioner, through her guardian, John T. Moriarty, that the property should be sold and converted into cash. The Respondent, John M. Schwartz, after much correspondence with his attorney, has failed to give the Petitioner any answer whatsoever as to how he would prefer the carrying out of Paragraph First of said Will.

4. In an effort to sell all of the property, said Petitioner has communicated with John M. Schwartz informing him of various offers to purchase the property and informing John M. Schwartz that, if he agreed, he would receive the sum of $3,000 in place of his devise in Paragraph First, and, in addition, one-third of the residue, after an additional $3,000 was set aside for the Respondent Marion Ferranti. The same offer has been made to the Respondent Marion Ferranti through her guardian John T. Moriarty, who has, subject to obtaining permission of this Court, agreed to this procedure. Said John M. Schwartz has either neglected or refused to answer the letters of his attorney who has been unable to contact said John M. Schwartz, who now resides, at least temporarily, in St. Petersburg, Florida.

5. Your petitioner is uncertain whether under paragraphs Third and Fourth of the Will he has power to sell all of the real estate, either at public or private sale, and distribute the proceeds, subject to the approval of the Probate Court, in the manner set forth above, with $3,000 of the purchase price each going to John M. Schwartz and Marion Ferranti, and the balance being divided equally in thirds and distributed to the Respondents John M. Schwartz, Marion Ferranti, and Esther L. Reynolds.

WHEREFORE YOUR PETITIONER PRAYS

1. That your Petitioner be authorized and directed to sell said property at private sale or public sale in accordance with Paragraph Fourth of the Will as set forth above, and to distribute the net proceeds of said sale in accordance with Paragraph 5 above, or in some other manner agreeable to said Court.

2. For such other further orders and instructions as to this Honorable Court may seem meet and proper.

Dated this 11th day of May 1970.
